

Tom Bober is a school librarian at RM Captain Elementary in St. Louis, Missouri, a former Teacher in Residence at the Library of Congress, and author of the book Elementary Educator's Guide to Primary Sources: Strategies for Teaching. He writes the Picture Books and Primary Sources posts for the American Association of School Librarian's KQ blog and is the Elementary Curriculum Editor for SchoolLibraryConnection.com. Tom promotes the use of primary sources in student learning to educators across the country at national and regional conferences, workshops, and webinars. He began his career as an elementary classroom teacher, was also an educational technologist, and has spent the last nine years as a school librarian. He is a Digital Public Library of America Community Rep and a member of teacher advisory boards for the National Portrait Gallery and the American Archive of Public Broadcasting.